

Writing for the Sciences

ENG 21003 Section D2

Letter of Introduction

The Letter of Introduction tells your reader about your academic goals, career aspirations, and what you wish to gain from taking a Writing for the Sciences course. This assignment also requires you to reflect on your current writing process and approach. Discuss the steps you take when writing about science, the writing skills you want to improve/develop, and how comfortable you are deciphering scientific texts. This assignment will be integral to your Final Portfolio/Self-Assessment assignment, reflecting on your current writing process, and how it has evolved as you acquired new writing skills and processes aligned with the course learning outcomes.
